WIFE OF CAMP GRANT OFFICER SHOT TO DEATH

Five Soldiers Sought for Tragedy There This Morning

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Camp Grant, Ill., June 16.—Investigation of the fatal shooting of Mrs. Maude Lucille Moss, wife of Captain Leroy H. Moss, at Camp Grant last night, took a new turn today, when the camp and civil authorities heavily armed began a hunt for four soldiers who escaped from the guard house at Camp Grant late yesterday afternoon.

One of the four has faced a court martial three times on charges preferred by Captain Moss, the camp intelligence officers said. Indication that the escape had been pre-arranged came to light when the authorities learned a car had been stolen at Davis Junction a small town just south of the camp, not far from where the shooting occurred.

Captain Robert B. Howie, camp intelligence officer, military police and deputy sheriffs, armed with rifles, have taken up the pursuit through Ogle county. According to a report from Mr. Morris, Ogle county, four soldiers drove into that village early this morning and tried to buy gasoline and when the garage man declined to sell it, abandoned their machine.

Sheriff Baldwin had a report that a car containing four soldiers was driven through Dixon early this morning. A later report from Dixon said the men were civilians.

Sheriffs of half a dozen counties are aiding in the search for the missing soldiers.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Camp Grant, Ill., June 16.—No arrests have been made in connection with the fatal shooting at Camp Grant last night of Mrs. Maude Lucille Moss, wife of Captain Leroy H. Moss. Camp intelligence officers said they hoped to have a solution of the tragedy by noon today.

Captain Moss and Bion J. Arnold, Chicago, father of Mrs. Moss, continue to hold to the theory that the shooting was accidental. Discovery of an empty shell from a 45 calibre army pistol at a point where the shot was fired is accepted as proof that a soldier fired the shot.

Mr. Arnold declared there was no possibility that the shooting was premeditated as it was late at night, dark and the motoring party were riding in a new automobile, which had just arrived at Camp.

Think Bullet Ricocheted
Mr. Arnold said he believed as the automobile passed a group of soldiers, one of them shot at the pavement and that the bullet ricocheting off the concrete passed through the back curtain of the tonneau and hit Mrs. Moss.

The body of Mrs. Moss will be taken to the Arnold residence, 2713 Kimbark ave., Chicago. Funeral services probably will be held Friday.

Mr. Arnold was awakened in his room at a hotel in Marengo last night and told a woman had been hurt in an accident at Camp Grant. He said he knew at once that his daughter was the victim. He left immediately for the camp in an automobile.

Five Soldiers Sought
Five soldiers were sought today in connection with the shooting.

That Mrs. Moss had been shot was not known until the automobile in which she was riding with her husband and four friends had gone a half mile. The party had passed the small group of soldiers, it was said.

Johnson Delegates Called Traitors
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Lincoln, Neb., June 16.—Frank H. Harrison of Lincoln who managed the Nebraska presidential preference primary campaign for Senator Hiram Johnson issued a statement here today charging that "treachery and desertion of the delegates from the instructed states broke the heart of the Johnson movement."

Mr. Harrison declared that "just two men on the Nebraska delegation at all times tried to obey the instructions of Nebraska when the roll was called." He also said that "if Hiram W. Johnson and the men and women of Nebraska who voted for him ever forgive the performance of the Nebraska delegation at Chicago, it will be after the accused convention system is wiped out and forgotten."

Harding Will Make No Speeches Now

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, June 16.—With no fixed engagements or political preferences slated for today, Senator Harding, the Republican presidential nominee, hoped to make rapid progress in cleaning up senatorial work in preparation for his departure from Washington within a few days for a vacation of two weeks or more.

He has not yet determined where he will spend his rest period but since he plans to devote part of his time to his speech of acceptance he intends to select a quiet place.

In making a selection he will be sure that there is a convenient golf course.

Many requests to speak have reached the Senator from all parts of the country but for the present, at least, he will decline all such invitations.

Senator Harding today sent the following letter to Major General Leonard Wood in reply to the latter's telegram of congratulation:

"I do not know quite how to express my feelings in dictating an acknowledgment to one who was a contender for the distinction which came to me. Perhaps I shall express myself sufficiently if I say that the distinction comes to you instead of me. I should have found very great pleasure and satisfaction in conveying to you a very cordial message of felicitation and good wishes.

"I know that we are both interested in the same great good to our common country and I feel confident that you will be very interested in bringing about a restoration of a Republican party administration in Washington and a return to the constitutional methods of government which were the concept of the founding fathers."

POLICE QUESTION SOCIETY WOMEN IN PROBE OF RICH TURFMAN'S MURDER

JOSEPH B. ELWELL

Elwell, the victim of the most mysterious murder in New York in many months, was found dead in his apartment with a bullet hole in his forehead. Police scout a suicide theory as no gun was found. An empty shell was found in the room, however.

By JAMES E. HEINE
N. Y. A. Staff Correspondent.
New York, June 16.—Investigation by the police into the many ramifications of the mysterious murder of Joseph B. Elwell, international bridge expert and turfman has revealed some thing of the profits that bridge affords—if it is played successfully.

Elwell, it is said, received royalties of about $7,000 a year from books he had written on bridge. He also earned about $18,000 a year teaching bridge to society women.

This was a small part of his income however. He often won as much as $1000 to $20,000 in an evening, and on one occasion he is said to have made as much as $30,000.

Elwell lived up to his large earnings. Indeed, it was necessary that he spend money lavishly if he wanted to keep up with "society" and continue to meet at the bridge table persons who could afford to lose large sums.

He had three summer homes, one at Newport. At Palm Beach he lived at the Everglades Club, which numbered among its members such men as William K. Vanderbilt, Vincent Astor, George Gould and Clarence Mackay. He had two automobiles, a Mercer and a Cadillac, besides a 65 foot yacht.

Recently he had bought a home for his mother and father at Ridgewood, N. J., and settled on them enough money to make them comfortable for life.

SEEK KENTUCKY WOMAN FOR NEW CLEW IN MURDER

Elwell's Death Was Prompted by Revenge, is Belief
By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, June 16.—Whether new light will be shed on the mystery surrounding the murder of Joseph B. Elwell, sportsman and whist expert, depended on reports expected today from detectives, sent to Lexington, Ky., to follow up a clew there.

According to Edward Swann, district attorney who personally has taken charge of the investigation, reliable information was given that Mr. Elwell left Lexington, June 1, suddenly as a result of threats on his life by the father or brother of a prominent girl of that city. Mr. Swann declined to name the Lexington family.

Investigation of the numerous friends of the dead man both men and women has caused detectives to abandon the idea that he was killed by any one because of jealousy. "Of this one thing we are convinced," said Mr. Swann, "the murder was done out of revenge."

LEFT IN GREAT HASTE

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Lexington, Ky., June 16.—It was learned late last night that Elwell had several engagements with a woman here during the race meeting and so attended a dinner party with her the night of May 7. Efforts to establish the identity of the woman, however, have failed. Elwell who checked out of a hotel here May 9, according to the hotel manager, left in haste. It was said and failed to pay his hotel bill at that time.

Bankruptcy Facing Chicago; Banks to Give No More Help

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, June 16.—James B. Forgan, chairman of the Chicago Clearing House today notified the city that a request for a $15,000,000 loan had been refused by Chicago banks and that no more money would be loaned to the city at this time.

Refusal of the city to adopt a suggestion by the bankers that improvement is responsible for the action, meant projects be curtailed until a more opportune time for financing Mr. Forgan said. Chicago faces bankruptcy before the end of the year, he added.

THREE NEGROES LYNCHED BY MOB IN DULUTH, MINN

Attack on White Girl at Circus Cause of Disorders

BULLETIN.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Duluth, Minn., June 16.—A report received here early today from Virginia was to the effect that ten negroes were being rushed in automobiles to St. Paul, guarded by deputy sheriffs to be placed in the Ramsey county jail for protection. A score of automobiles carrying members of last night's mob had been reported on the way to Virginia from Duluth in an effort to seize other negroes employed by a circus whom they believed might have participated in the attack on a white girl here.

DENIED IN ST. PAUL.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
St. Paul, Minn., June 16.—Local police and county authorities early today deny knowledge of a report from Virginia that 19 negroes alleged to have been connected in an attack on a white girl at Duluth were being brought to the Ramsey county jail for protection.

Duluth, Minn., June 16.—Virtually normal conditions prevailed on the Duluth business streets over which a mob of 5,000 persons surged last night—sweeping the police from power and seizing and lynching three negroes held in connection with an attack on a 17-year old white girl.

When two companies of Minnesota National Guardsmen reached here at an early hour after a special train trip from St. Paul, they found only a damaged police station and littered streets as visual evidences of the mob's activity.

Under state Adjutant General W. Rhinow, the 124 men went into temporary camp, preparing if necessary to guard against any eventually that might arise. The men are equipped for riot duty.

Captain W. P. Townsend commands Company H of Fairbault and Captain W. A. Miller heads Company I of Long Prairie.

Police Overpowered.
Last night's lynching was accomplished after the city's police force had been overpowered by bricks and streams from fire hose in an attack on police headquarters. For at least two hours the mob ruled, only relinquishing its power after the negroes had been lynched.

Six negroes had been arrested by the police in connection with the attack on the girl, which took place at a circus ground Monday night. The negroes were attached to the circus as roustabouts. The mob held a mock trial, declared three of the negroes guilty and acquitted the other three, who today still were in the hands of the police.

The three "convicted" negroes were hanged within a block and a half of the police station, the mob looting down places of two priests that the law be permitted to take its course. It took three starts to hang the first negro, as the rope broke the first two times.

There was no new information here early today in regard to the four negroes said to have been arrested at Virginia where the circus appeared yesterday.

Injuries suffered by eight policemen and a newspaper man were said to be trivial today.

Fighter, Overcome by Heat, Won Bout Solely on Gameness

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Rock Island, June 16.—Tommy Coniskey of St. Paul, welterweight, fought through the last four rounds of his ten round bout with Jimmy Nuss of Moline here last night in a state of complete exhaustion from the intense heat and humidity of the arena, and won because the early lead he had piled up. From the seventh on fighting listless he carried the great little St. Paul boy through. His skin had turned pale and his eyes were glazed, he couldn't hit but his body continued to respond to his shifting movement that prevented the equally tired but mentally alert Nuss from a knockout which he would have to do in order to win.

Physicians worked for two hours on Coniskey after the bout to restore his senses, his body having to be swathed in ice bandages to ward off permanent effects.

Danville Women Held Not Guilty of Killing Mates

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill., June 16.—Reversing the decision of the Vermilion county circuit court, the supreme court today held that Martha Holtz and Grace Whisman, of Danville, who had been sentenced to 20 years in prison, charged with conspiracy to kill their husbands, were not guilty as charged. The case was remanded.

Testimony in the lower court showed the husbands, Walter Whisman, who was killed, and Charles Holtz, wounded, while they slept, held insurance. Convictions were upon circumstantial evidence.

The higher court rules that the fact the dead person, and the wounded man had insurance was no evidence tending to show intent to destroy life.

While admitting that the case gives strong evidence of the guilt of one woman, the court holds that this fact does not warrant the conviction of both on a charge of conspiracy. There was no evidence at all of conspiracy, the court says.

Both couples were living in the same house when the shooting occurred.

TO ATTEND CONVENTION.

MERCHANTS ASK MODIFICATION OF TRAFFIC LAW

Galena Ave. Dealers Petitioned City Commission

Five merchants having places of business on the east side of Galena avenue, appeared before the city council at its regular session last evening and asked the commission to modify the traffic ordinance which recently went into effect, prohibiting the parking of automobiles or other vehicles on the east side of the avenue.

The greater part of the session was devoted to the exchange of views of the business men and members of the council with reference to the change.

Since the ordinance became effective there has been complaint by some of the merchants and last evening a committee visited the council chambers to ascertain what could be done with reference to changing or modifying the new ruling. The members of the council were of the opinion that the ordinance would be for the safety of the public and that after it has been in force for a time that it will be equally as satisfactory as the ordinance which now prohibits parking of cars on First street on certain days during the week and hours of the day and the matter was referred to Commissioner John J. Armstrong of the department of public health and safety.

The council granted a license to W. H. Flemming, 617 Depot avenue to conduct a soft drink parlor. The application of M. J. Callahan, 194 First street, to erect a sign, was referred to the commission of public health and safety. The regular semi-monthly bills amounting to $2,295.10 were read and allowed.

CHAOS RESULT OF DECISION FILED TODAY

Fifteenth Dist. Judicial Convention is Hit by Decree

CONVENTION POSTPONED.
The judicial convention to have been held at Freeport tomorrow has been called off, and a convention to name candidates for Circuit Judge will be held there June 25. Attorney General Brundage has notified the Lee county delegates, and presumably those of the other counties, as follows:

"Convention for tomorrow, called under the invalid primary act of 1919, should not be held. Have asked Secretary of State to call a convention under the judicial primary act of 1917 for June 27."

BULLETIN
(Special to the Telegraph)
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill., June 16.—Owing to the Supreme court today handing down an opinion declaring the primary election law of 1919 unconstitutional, Attorney General Brundage has asked Secretary of State Emmerson to call another judicial convention for the Fifteenth district in place of the one to have been held tomorrow at Freeport, and the Secretary of state will do so.

The committeemen elected in November, 1919, will constitute the convention to be called, according to the attorney general's ruling today.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill., June 16.—By unanimous decision the supreme court, this morning held the Illinois primary election law of 1919 unconstitutional. This decision throws out state central committees of the political parties, and all county central committees and reinstates the old committee elected under the old primary law, now revived.

Outs Thompson Faction
It dislodges the Thompson faction in Chicago and returns to power the Densen-Brundage forces. Elsewhere in the state it upsets plans for special election, and conventions called. Governor Lowden had called two special elections, one on July 27th for the fifteenth judicial district, to elect successors to Circuit Judges Farrand and Eaton, and another in the eleventh judicial district to supply a vacancy in the circuit bench there.

Whether the election call stands, or whether a delay is possible until a new means of naming candidates is provided has not yet been decided by the Attorney General. In the eleventh district a convention held two weeks ago nominated Edward Barry, Republican, Bloomington who was unopposed by the Democrats. The fifteenth district including Ogle, Stephenson, Carroll, Jo Daviess and Lee counties planned to hold their convention tomorrow.

Many Offices Vacant
All offices created by the new act are declared vacant; and all convention proceedings and all else done under it is held without effect. Only elections actually held are exempted from the nullifying effect of the court's decision.

In the opinion from the bench, by Judge Cartwright, the act was held unconstitutional because of both the sections applying to Cook county, and also to that applying to down state.

The provision applying to Cook county, gives arbitrary power to divide the territory outside Chicago, without regard to population.

Such arbitrary power conferred with no regulation concerning size, population and number of voters and without any rule for the exercise of the power under that provision, affords much opportunity for inequality. The section providing for the election of committeemen outside cities of 5,000 or more and ward committeemen within, is also defective. It gives the small ward unequal and unbalanced and controlling power, says the court, and "destroys the equality and freedom of elections and discriminates against electors."

Old Law Revived
Commenting on the courts decision, Attorney General Brundage who had previously held the same opinion said: "The primary act of 1919 being invalid and the repealing clause thereof inoperative, it follows that the primary act of 1910, as subsequently (Continued from Page 1.)

JAMES CAHILL.

James Cahill, a pioneer of Lee Co., passed away at his home in Marion township June 9, 1920. He had been a partial invalid for five years, but he bore his sufferings uncomplainingly and only the members of his family realized his condition.

He was born at Carrick-on-Suir, Tipperary, Ireland, August 15, 1833 and came to Boston, Mass. when a boy. In 1855 he came west, settling at Amboy, where he was united in marriage to Joanna Healy in July 1859. He leaves to mourn his passing five children, and a host of friends. The surviving children are: Senator J. L. Cahill of Leith, North Dakota,

Vail Will Remain in Dixon for Time

Morrison H. Vail, who is architect for the European Relief and Reconstruction Work of the Methodist Episcopal church, has decided not to return to Europe for the present as the board was unable to secure transportation until too late to plan further work for this season. The buildings which he planned during last winter in Paris will be built this year and further construction will be postponed until next year. The program contemplates many important structures of various sorts in all parts of France and Italy, including buildings for a college at Rome to cost $1,000,000. Mr. Vail is now at home in Dixon and will resume his practice of architecture here for the present in his office at his home on East Federal street.

LOWDEN'S DEFEAT

The people of Illinois and of many other states were keenly disappointed that Governor Frank O. Lowden failed to receive the republican nomination for president. The fact that the convention nominated a splendid candidate—one whom the republicans of America can support with enthusiasm leaves us with loyalty to the republic unshaken, but the supporters of Lowden feel more than ever before that Illinois' war governor is a great man and must some day fill the presidential chair.

Lowden must be prevailed upon to be a candidate for re-election to the governorship. Illinois needs him there and it would have been a sacrifice to the welfare of this state had he been nominated for president.

Lowden was defeated by the vile tactics of the too-ambitious Hiram Johnson, the blatant Mr. Borah and the combined action of his lesser opposition by their groundless charges of hoodlum and corruption.

The Lowden campaign managers allotted funds to be spent for organization and legitimate campaign expenses in Missouri, just as every other candidate spent money in all parts of the nation. Two of the men in Missouri put the money in their pockets instead of spending it. They were to spend the money for legitimate campaign expenses.

When these Missouri men were called before the Senate investigating committee and Senator Reed, a democrat, asked them if they received Lowden money, they said they did.
Asked what they did with it, they said they had kept it. They had, in the meantime, been elected delegates to the national convention. It was very easy to make capital out of that.
A suspicious public could be easily convinced that this money these men had in the banks in their own name, this Lowden money, was paid them to vote for Lowden. So Hearst and the Democratic newspapers and—we hate to admit it—some alleged republicans who thought they saw an opportunity to build up their chances on a rival candidate's mangled reputation, started calling the Missouri affair a boodler position, delegate buying, etc.

But suppose the two men in Missouri had been square and had spent the money as it was intended to be spent. In the Senate investigation they would have answered that they received a certain sum of money from the Lowden campaign managers and that they had spent it in one way and another, advertising and organizing in the interests of Lowden, and the testimony would not have caused a ripple for that was the action that was being taken by every other candidate.

But because two men in Missouri were apparently dishonest in misappropriating funds unscrupulously and ruthless rivals could not resist the opportunity to crucify Governor Lowden with their twisted and false appeals to popular sentiment.

Many delegates knew Lowden to be innocent but feared the temper of a mis-informed and credulous public, and Lowden was beaten.

But the sorriest spectacle in the proceedings in the Coliseum was the vote of the Illinois delegation. Time and again when the roll of states was called Illinois was forced to answer, to her shame, "Lowden 41, Johnson 17." The thousands in the balconies saw the treachery and disloyalty of it and hissed William Hale Thompson's action. Although it was considered that the opposition of Thompson strengthened Lowden and the people loved him for the enemies he had made, it made an Illinoisian ashamed to hear Kentucky respond delegation and to hear Iowa also give her unanimous vote to Lowden until

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

TINGLING GETS A LETTER
While Tingling, the fairy landlord, and Nancy and Nick, the twins (in their Green shoes) and the Magical Mushroom, too, were on their way home from Wally Woodchuck's house, an idea occurred to the fairy and he stopped suddenly.
"Jumping crickets!" he exclaimed.
"If this isn't rent day! It's the thirty second of the month and I always collect my rents on that day. I'll have where they wished, even into Tiny Gnat's house which was about as big as the eye of a needle, and not a darning needle either.
Tingling fished around in his pocket and hauled out a rumpled paper.
"I received a letter from Chirk Chipmunk yesterday," he said, putting on his spectacles and looking it over.
"Chirk says he won't pay any more rent because the roof leaks, and the stairs need fixing, and the walls are damp, and the door-bell won't ring."

and the bath-room's out of order, and the pantry window's broken, and the wall paper's coming off, and the doors are sprung, and the water pipe is busted (he said busted).
"Outside of that I suppose it's all right," smiled the wise old mushroom.
"Sure!" nodded Tingling, flinging his bells emphatically. "We'll go right around and fix him. If he doesn't pay me, I'll tie bells all around him, and he'll hate that, so he'll pay me 10 cents!"

CANCER IS INCREASING.

The number of deaths from cancer is increasing, the recorded death rate showing an increase of about 2 1/2 per cent each year. Some of this probably due to better diagnosis and improved methods of gathering vital statistics, but most of it is due to the fact that more people now reach the age at which cancer is most prevalent.

It is important that everyone should know something about this great scourge.

Primarily cancer is curable, if it is recognized in the early stages and treated by a competent surgeon. This is not so easy as it might seem, for in the beginning cancer is usually painless and often very hard to detect.
Women should be on the lookout for lumps in the breast, even though painless, and unless such a lump disappears quite rapidly, should consult a competent physician and have him make a thorough examination. Persistent abnormal discharge, or bleeding, is also a symptom of cancer and should receive early attention.
Sores, cracks, lacerations, ulcers and lumps which do not heal and warts, moles, or birthmarks which change in size, color, or appearance, may turn into cancer unless treated

Such is Life

BY O. B. JOYFUL

Have you noticed how it is that when one child in the neighborhood comes down with the mumps all the other children follow suit?
And it's something like that when one fellow gets rich quickly.
Everybody else is bitten by the idea that it is possible to manufacture something out of nothing, to reap where no seeds were sown or to get in on the ground floor.
Weert Bauer, Alton, Ill., farmer, says he paid $14,053 to a clairvoyant who promised to locate $70,000 in gold in a buried pot on his farm.
When he became convinced that what the clairvoyant did locate was one easily plucked goose he turned to the law for relief.

Member that old faker who used to offer a "How to double your money" recipe for $5?
When he got the five he mailed this instruction:
"Take a one-dollar bill, fold it, and thus you have doubled your money."

They used to take money away from suckers via the shell game, crooked faro, and the gold brick. Now they do it more successfully, more profitably and with less chance of going to prison by exchanging wildcat oil stock for your currency.

Not even education seems safe from the middlemen's fingers of progress.

The "honor system," having proved successful in jails, has been adopted in the Washington State University.
Hereafter the student found using the encyclopedia cuff the "little horse," of Roman fame or the onion-skin paper short course geometry, will be adjudged honorless.
In the first place why should it be necessary for college students to have honors?

"Isn't fair. 'Tisn't right. What's the use of going to school if one has to learn to pass examinations?" The educated brain should be obtained by the pate de foie gras method. The food of education should be rammed down the neck. One doesn't ask a goose to hold still "on its honor" when the goose-tender forces down the food that make its liver valuable.

Then, too, there's posterity to consider. Did you ever hear of a great man who didn't cheat in school?
Where will tomorrow's great men come from now?

Confessions of a Bride
(Copyright 1920, by The Newspaper Enterprise Association)

I MAKE A STUDY OF THE suc-CESSES AND FAILURES OF MISS MILLER'S ROOM.

Katherine Miller's marvelous "regency" bed made a glorious background for her golden beauty. Her hurdle did not make it necessary for her to stay in bed, she explained, after she had greeted Chrys and me, but she rather liked to take a little rest cure, once in a while, she believed that women could get rid of half their nervous afflictions simply by shutting themselves up in their own rooms occasionally.

I agreed with her, but since I had come from the common people, I knew very well that the women who need that kind of a cure most are the very ones who think they cannot have it.

I poured the tea, because Miss Miller didn't care to sit up to do it. The pretty ceremony interested me for once. It gave me an excuse for letting Chrys and Katherine do most of the talking. While they chatted, I studied Katherine's surroundings.
They were as unique as her particular style of beauty, altogether as splendid as her own lovely person. Every girl adores an artistic room of her own.
and I was doubly interested in Kath-erine's, because my little home needed furnishing up a bit this spring. I took notes, mentally, of the successes and the failures in Miss Miller's decorative scheme.

The motif was odd enough—it was the circle!
Chrysobel knew all about the mysticism connected with that symbol, and it seemed to me that she was rather vexed because Katherine Miller seized upon it! Chrysobel knew that she herself ought to have such a "temperamental" environment, but,
of course, she could never imitate Katherine's Suite, even though she could improve upon it!

A round mirror in a narrow black frame topped Katherine's delicately made dressing table, and another of much larger size was suspended by silken ropes above her chest of drawers. The bed was a wonderful thing with round headboard, hand-carved and French caned, and it was covered with a delicately flowered and tinted satin spread having a shirred flounce which quite concealed the insides of the bed and the rounded end. The bed looked like an enlarged and glorified chaise longue. I had never seen anything like it except in foreign museums.

The table and dresser, the hutch and the mantle, the shelves and the walls of the room were cluttered with a treasure of rare bottles and boxes and vases, toilet articles and etch-ings.

Katherine's pride was her collection of mirrors. She specialized in round mirrors and had spent fortune in gathering them together from all parts of the world. It was this collection which suggested the circle as the motif of the decorations, she explained. Chrys enthused vivaciously about the idea, but I was skeptical, I suppose. Said myself to myself:
"Mirrors! How characteristic of a girl! When she admires one of them, she admires the reflection of herself."

Judging from the opulence of her boudoir, I decided that there wasn't much restraint in Miss Miller's nature and because I couldn't like her, in spite of Bob's recent attempt to make me do so, I hoped that I had considerable restraint in my own makeup.
"This collecting mania must get to be an awful form of self-indulgence," I thought. "First, a girl fills up her own room, then the house, and when that is crammed, the superfluous 'seconds' must be sent off to a museum! Little personal pleasure can one have in owning a museum, I would think."

And I was glad that I didn't have to buy the things that happened to please me, just for the thrill of purchasing them, or just because I happened to have the money to pay for them.

My little house required some renovating, as most homes do every spring. I decided that restraint should be the keynote of my decorating problems. I would buy very nice things, but I would buy them sparingly. I would certainly avoid the little and the clutter which, in spite of its eloquence, was the dominating and the distressing feature of Miss Miller's luxurious suite.

The Literary Digest straw vote shows Edwards running well. Perhaps it is a rye vote.

The millennium will come soon after everybody decides to reform himself instead of the other fellow.

Smile
Chuckle

BY LEE HINGSTON.

All through the day I hacked away to write a modern story. Said I:
"I'm sure this diction pure will cover me with glory; these paragraphs contain the laughs without which yarns are zero, and as for those, they tell the woes encountered by our hero.
He wades through fire and perils dire our heroine defending and sweats until, with facile skill, I bring the happy ending." But ere my tale went in the mail to those in fiction dealing, I cast my looks upon my books, extending to the ceiling. "You ask," said I, "why do you try to be a man of letters, while all around these works abound, the products of your betters?
The stuff you drain from out your brain may suit the silly chickens; without this rot upon the spot, perhaps they'd take up Dickens. The tales you make, the plots you fake, the foolish man and maiden, are all a bluff and with this stuff the shops are heavy laden. Fill no more reams with futile dreams in writing wide and scrawly, and flappers who consume this good may turn to Lore Macaulay. Men toil all night to write and write until their eyes are squinting; go, sow the seed, tell them to read instead of always printing." With that I took my unborn book and sacrificed it duly, and that is why you cannot buy the volumes of yours truly.

girl, and every score of years or so at her some critic takes a whirl. They say, Oh, they say many things, and she absorbs their manderings. They tell us how her shoulders, placed just as they are, cannot be true to what they have in legend traced the lady ought to seem to do. And after while the critic dies, she smiles on through the centuries. I only know through war-time's hell and all the days of joy and peace, this woman's arms, invisible still hold the light that shall not cease, that gleam that, shining fair and free, links century to century.

FAKE PRESS STUFF AROUSES COLLEGE

Wellesley College Officers Show Up Phoney Stories

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Wellesley, Mass., June 16.—Wellesley College authorities are trying to head off the activities of an ingenious news peddler who, making his headquarters in Boston, has sent to newspapers all over the country complimentary but untrue stories concerning young women in the student body and members of the faculty. His method is to query a newspaper as to whether it wishes a story of which a student or faculty member living in the city or town where the paper is published, is the central figure. The identical query is sent to anywhere from 50 to 100 papers, it is alleged, with a different name in each case for heroine of the story. These names are taken from the college catalogue.

Regarding one of these stories the college publicity department says: "On April 23 there went out from Boston to newspapers all over the United States and Canada a set of telegrams like the following, except for name and address:

"Wellesley honors Anna Abbot, 60 Main Street, to represent college sweeping government economic investigation."

"The story sent to these papers which wired acceptance was that the local student, or, in some towns whose supply of students at Wellesley was limited, a member of the faculty, had been elected by the student body and confirmed by the faculty as one of the 50 members of a Wellesley economic investigation committee, which was, it appeared, to conduct a systematic economic survey of the United States, in an endeavor to secure a basis for a plan to reduce the cost of living."

"The irritation of the victims, of whom there are at least 100 and of their families, especially of those whose parental pride had accepted the tale as not unlikely, was naturally considerable. It is made greater for many of the victims because this is at least the second occasion that they have thus received honors bestowed only by news agency."

An earlier instance was in January last when the agency sent out a story of an "unprecedented ceremony," the time of which was left indefinite, when General Pershing's helmet and staff flag and also "the Imperial baton" of the German emperor were bestowed upon the college by the Agora Society. The story said a "touching, eloquent and impressive address" was made on behalf of the college by a girl whose name was different in each case.

As a matter of fact, the publicity department says: "About the only facts were the names and addresses gained from the college directory, though it was true, as published in an Associated Press dispatch last October, that General Pershing's helmet and flag are in the possession of an organization at Wellesley."

The department says that it has been learned that similar stories have been sent out by agency concerning Smith College students and adds:

"A regular set of rules seems to have been established by the agency: first place, the story must not be true, and must at the same time not be actionable; should, in fact, be supposedly flattering. It should have some timely note. In using the college directory the agency takes only one name to a town and even to a city."

The college has sent denials of the stories to as many as possible of the papers which printed them. It has also sent an explanation of the circumstances to each of the "victims," with the suggestion that they turn it over to their home town papers for their information.

Marion, Ohio, June 16.—The man who would be president, Warren G. Harding, Republican nominee, once dragged a coffin through the streets of a town near here. He propped it against the door post of the mayor's house.

I have that from the lips of W. E. Ritz, farmer of Iberia, ten miles from here, who helped him do it. Harding was in school at Iberia and Ritz a farm boy.

The two of them raided an undertaker's store and dragged forth a coffin for a ghost parade.

Everybody in Caledonia, where Harding went to school, has personal acquaintances with Harding. Everybody's anxious to tell stories of his boyhood.

It was evening and the folks were in wicker rockers on the front porch of their homes along the main street of Caledonia. From door to door I went to ask the same question: "What do you know about Harding?"

Bob Highly, 82 years old and a veteran, remembers when Warren was the "worst little divvle" in school. Says Highly: "All the other kids were afraid of their maws, but that Harding kid was a holy terror. Smarter than a whip, though, I've heard tell. Allus had his lessons and never seemed to be astudyin'."

Kate Highly, Bob's wife, recalled the day that Harding came to paint the summer house and spilled red paint on her kitchen floor.

"I'll never forget," she laughed, how scared he was I'd be mad and I guess I was."

Mrs. Harriet Osborn never did have her barn painted as well as Harding did the job when he was 14 years old. Mrs. Osborn remembered, too, the days of the Hardings in Caledonia when Mrs. Harding seemed always to have a baby in her arms and when the fees of the county doctor, George T. Harding, the candidates father, were hardly enough for the family's needs.

"The doctor used to come over sometimes in the winter time to see me," she said, "and he would stand by the stove warming his hands and his cuffs would be all tattered. There wasn't enough sickness in them days here."

Sam Anderson, hardware man, used to "toot the next horn to Warren" in the Caledonia town band. Warren wasn't much of a musician, Anderson confessed.

His wife sat beside Anderson. She wanted to talk to me and yet—Finally she told me:

"Warren was mighty popular with the girls. I went to school with him and he pulled my hair and sometimes he carried my books home. He wasn't more than 14 then. Well he came here to talk here one night and I went up to hear him. After the speaking was over I walked up to the platform. I was intending to call him 'senator' or 'mister' but no sooner than he caught sight of me than he sings out, 'Well, well, if it ain't my old friend Minnie—Minnie Anderson!'"

"He never said 'ain't,'" protested her husband and I left them in a friendly argument.

Vanitie Favorite for Today's Race

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Newport, R. I., June 16.—Another smoky southwester prevailed when the cup defense candidate yachts Resolute and Vanitie made ready today for the ninth trial race over the Breton's Reef course. Vanitie was again the favorite, notwithstanding Resolute's fifth victory yesterday since it was learned that in yesterday's contest the Gardner boat fell behind only when her center board picked up a stray lobster line.

It took only 26 words to nominate Abraham Lincoln for the presidency in 1860, and only four words to second the nomination.

Excepting one other annual religious gathering this congress is said to be the biggest thing for negroes held in the country.

The Springfield high school auditorium, and class rooms will be the scene of convention activities which start at noon. There will be forty different departments, to instruct Sunday school workers in every line of their endeavor.

Embargo on Shipment of Coal is Probable

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, June 16.—Department of Justice and Interstate Commerce Commission officials began working together today to relieve freight congestion on the nation's railroads and to restore coast wise shipping to normal through settlement of strikes of marine workers. If these methods fail to alleviate serious coal shortages in various parts of the country, embargo on coal exports will be considered.

Over fifty years ago a young physician practiced widely in a rural district and became famous for his uniform success in the curing of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who afterwards established himself in Buffalo, N. Y., and placed one of his prescriptions, which he called "Golden Medical Discovery," in the drug stores of the United States so that the public could easily obtain this very remarkable tonic, corrective and blood-maker. Dr. Pierce manufactured this "Discovery" from roots and barks—a corrective remedy, the ingredients of which nature had put in the fields and forests, for keeping us healthy. Few folks or families now living have not at sometime or other used his "Golden Medical Discovery" for the stomach, liver and heart. Over twenty-four million bottles of this tonic and blood remedy have been sold in this country.

HEROES OF '60 OUT WITH FACTS

Want Public to Know How Much Good Tanlac Has Done at Old Soldiers Home

So many of the old "Vets" out at the Soldier's Home in Leavenworth have been benefited by Tanlac lately that they decided the fact ought to be made public.

The call for volunteers to report the matter was quickly answered by J. F. Johnson and C. H. Ostrander, each seventy-four years of age, and David M. Cain, who is now in his eightieth year.

Their statements, which were received at the Tanlac offices a few days ago, all seem to have been signed with a steady hand and tell in no uncertain terms of the remarkable results these old heroes of the "Sixties" have obtained from the Master Medicine.

David M. Cain, Corporal of Company "E" Ward 1, the oldest of the trio, says: "I have lived a long time and have had lots of experience with medicines, but I have never come across the equal of Tanlac. It has not only rid me of a case of nervous indigestion of eight years standing, but I have actually gained sixteen pounds in weight by taking it. Before taking Tanlac I had no appetite and what little I did eat would sour on my stomach and I would swell up with gas until I could hardly breathe. My heart would palpitate at a terrible rate and I also had raging headaches, and often got so dizzy I could scarcely stand on my feet. I had pains all through my body and was so weak it was difficult for me to get around at all."

"But Tanlac has done away with all my miserable feelings and put me in better shape than I have been for eight or ten years. I can eat just anything I want and my appetite is a caution. And sleep, why I just sleep like a log every night, feel good and strong, and have more energy than I have had in years. I have recommended Tanlac to many of my comrades, who have also taken it with fine results. It certainly is the right medicine for old folks."

"At the time I began taking Tanlac," said J. F. Johnson, "I couldn't eat or sleep to do much good and just felt miserable all the time. I suffered from indigestion, dizziness, pains in my back, and about all my strength had left me. I had just about come to the conclusion that I would never be well again, but I am now in better physical shape than I have been for a long time. In fact, I don't think I ever felt much better, even when I was a young man, than I do since taking Tanlac."

C. H. Ostrander says: "I believe I had about all the miserable feelings anybody with indigestion can have, and I was so weak and nervous I could hardly drag around. I had been battling with this condition for three years and was ready to give up the fight. But by the help of Tanlac I am now feeling fine."

I'd like to tell all the soldiers everywhere how Tanlac is helping us here in Leavenworth."

Tanlac is sold in Dixon by the Public Drug and Book Co., and by the leading druggists in every town.

According to Director James L. Wilmet, of the government printing office, the daily output of holes perforated from stamps when placed edge to edge would extend a distance of 863 1/2 miles.

Methodists Will Meet in Rockford Conference Sept. 29

Rockford, Ill., June 16.—Wednesday, September 29, has been designated as the opening day of the annual session of the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which will meet at Centennial M. E. Church, this city.

While all the sessions will be held at Centennial church, Methodists of all Rockford will assist in entertaining the large number of pastors and lay delegates who will be in attendance. It will be the first time that there has been equal lay representation at a Rock River conference session and consequently the gathering will be a record breaker for size.

Bishop Frank Bristol, who has his headquarters at Chattanooga, Tenn., will be presiding bishop. The coming of Bishop Bristol to Rockford will be of special interest, as he was formerly a resident of this city, and an attendant of the old Third Street M. E. church. Bishop Bristol is reputed to be one of the greatest orators in the Methodist Episcopal church and Rockford Methodists who are personally acquainted with his ability feel Rock River conference was particularly fortunate in his assignment.

Bishop Thomas Nicholson, of the Chicago area, will be here for the session, but Bishop Bristol will be presiding bishop.

What a lot of argument there used to be about a woman driving an automobile TODAY she can "make a train" or fix a tire as well as anybody.

As soon as a luxury becomes a necessity the point of view changes.

Two or three years ago you would have listened to more varying opinions about tires than you could shake a stick at. Mileages, construction, treads and whatnot.

It's different now. Tire users are working towards a unanimous feeling.

You express it one way—the man down the street another. But sifted down it amounts to this:

That the only way to settle your tire problem is to get a tire of known value and stick to it.

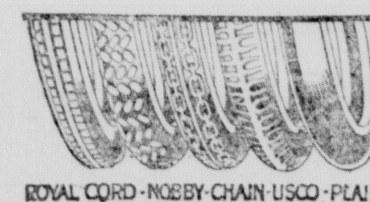

We recommend and sell U. S. Tires because their value is known.

There's no guess about it.

It was the U. S. quality policy which led to the perfection of the straight-side automobile tire, the pneumatic truck tire—two of the greatest additions to tire value that have ever been made.

As representatives of the oldest and largest rubber concern in the world, we are in a position to tell you something about tire values. Come in some day and talk to us.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel: In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

OBITUARY.

MISS CATHERINE LANDAU.

Miss Catherine Landau was born in Lee Center, Ill., Sept. 4th, 1866, and died at her home in Waterloo, Iowa, on June 11, 1920, at the age of 53 years, 9 months and 7 days, after a long continued illness.

Her early home was in Illinois, near the place of her birth until about 16 years ago when she moved to Waterloo, Iowa, where she resided till death came. Miss Landau was a practical nurse during much of her life—having a faculty of caring for the sick, ministering to them with tenderness and personal solicitude. For the last few years her health did not permit her to continue this work as formerly so she has kept a rooming house and boarding house, but among her roomers she often cared for sick people giving them every attention necessary.

She was reared a Lutheran but had never united with that church after going to Waterloo, but attended Grace Methodist church. She was a reverent and devout woman and "aid her dererium of the last few days of her life, her mind constantly dwelt on religious matters and she spoke often with the utmost assurance of her faith in God, her Redeemer.

During her last illness which lasted for eight months she was cared for faithfully by her sister, Mrs. J. C. Smith and her brother, John Landau. She is survived by the following brothers and sisters:

John Landau, of Bradford township, Ill.; Mrs. John C. Smith, of Col-wine, Iowa; Mrs. William Gleim, of Dixon, Henry Landau, of Fredricksburg, Iowa; William Landau, of Bradford township, Mrs. Adam Gleim, of Bradford township, Mrs. Frank Anderson, of Evanston, Ill.; Chris Landau, of Lee Center, and Mrs. William Johnson, of Rockford.

Short funeral services were held on Sunday at Waterloo and the remains were taken to Amboy, Ill. Funeral services were held from the Vaughn undertaking parlors, conducted by Rev. Krebs of the Lutheran church and interment was made in the Landau family lot in Woodside cemetery at Lee Center on Monday afternoon, June 14, 1920.

Whiskey, which 500 years ago was used chiefly as a medicine, was originally manufactured exclusively in Scotland.
